

Transition Poem for Year 7

The next five years start here.
Take a deep breath as you walk through the doors.
Hear the feet pounding the floors.

Eyes are watching, everywhere.
But no need to worry.
No matter what time or day, the teachers always care.

Decisions and choices, always in your mind,
But with people to help you, you're no longer blind.
New things to learn, fun things to try.
Opportunities you can't say no to.

Look forward to responsibilities!
New friends to be made along the way.
Never give up is what you should say.

Sports and music, writing and more,
With subjects maybe you've never done before.
One more thing, what will come next?
The houses await for our brand new guests.

Wainwright, Paxman, Barson and Taylor
Which one will you be in?
Competing in competitions,
For the cup at the end!

So many new things,
It's amazing you say
Well in no time at all,
You will join us one day.

Take a deep breath as you walk through the doors
Holmfirth high school has so much in store 😊

By L Stott – Year 9